$50,000 Goal Set

CIC Opens Fund Drive To Lure New Industries

The Community Improvement Corp. launched a $50,000 fund drive Wednesday night to help move ahead with its primary objective — attracting new industries to the East Liverpool area.

Fifty-five attended a buffet luncheon at the YMCA and picked up pledge cards for use in contacting about 300 more prospective contributors in a whirlwind drive slated to wind up Jan. 2.

GEORGE A. SHAW, president of the 16-month-old non-profit corporation, reviewed its progress to date and pointed out that an adequate financial backlog is needed now to move ahead with the serious business of persuading industries to locate new plants in this region.

Advance pledges of $3,800 were reported during the meeting and contributions of $2,300 more were made after Shaw spoke, so the campaign was $6,100 along the way before the 90-minute session ended.

Shaw pointed out the goal can be attained if each prospect contributes an average of $175. He asked minimum pledges of $100, but explained the tax-deductible contributions may be spread across 1964, 1965 and 1966, if the individual desires.

THE CHAMBER of Commerce office will serve as headquarters for the drive. Shaw explained that contributions and pledge cards may be mailed to the CIC at Post Office Box 94.

Shaw reviewed the work the CIC has accomplished since its inception, citing the natural and man-made advantages of the East Liverpool area that can be used in helping persuade industrialists to locate facilities here.

He emphasized that much of the credit for the first year's accomplishments belongs to Alvin T. Babb, who was charter president of the CIC.

Eighty-seven responded to the original membership campaign for the CIC, Shaw said. An administrative fund of $1,800 was raised, including $500 that will be used to publish a brochure about the first of the year to help attract tourists to the area, he said.

With $1,300 collected in second-year dues and a balance from the first year, the organization now has an administrative fund that totals about $2,000.

IN THE FIRST year, the organization made a thorough list of the advantages of the area, worked out ways of approaching prospects and methods of financing and decided on methods of evaluating prospective firms that made overtures, Shaw said.

"We're still babes in the woods in this business," he commented. "This is one of the most complicated things I've ever been engaged in."

The list of the area's advantages, called an inventory of community facilities, covers "reams" of material that will be evaluated for use as prospects are approached, Shaw said. Large aerial maps of the district have been ordered for use as a display in the corporation's office and as a way of pin-pointing available land and buildings.

"One of the first things we learned is that prospects do not want it publicized that they're in town looking for sites," Shaw commented. "We certainly will accede to their wishes for the benefit of all concerned."

E. R. CHANDLER, secretary of the CIC, then related a list of the discussions the organization conducted in the last year

U.S. Urges Soviet Halt Viet Cong

New Leaders Asked To Use Influence To Stem Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has asked the new Soviet leaders to use their influence to halt Communist operations from North Viet Nam against South Viet Nam.

The request was made to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in the course of a series of conferences Gromyko held here with Rusk and President Johnson. Rusk also asked the Russians Wednesday to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko conferred with Johnson at the White House for about 90 minutes. In a show of cordiality, the President escorted him to the door when the talk ended.

Gromyko said disarmament and several other subjects were discussed in his meeting with the President and added: "I think that the exchange of views was useful and the atmosphere in the course of the conversation was friendly."

He did not specify the other topics taken up with Johnson. But he did say that the President welcomed the $555 million defense budget cut which was announced Wednesday by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Asked whether Johnson and he talked about the possibility of an East-West summit conference

5 Hurt In 3 Rogers Area Ice Mishaps

An icy section of Route 7 south of Rogers caused three traffic mishaps which injured five drivers Wednesday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported today.

In the first, Robert Harris, 24, of Steubenville lost control of his car on the icy pavement about three and a half miles south of Rogers and went left of center, skidding into a south-bound auto driven by John Keller, 26, of Rogers R. D. 1.

Keller was treated at City Hospital for bruises of the elbow, nose and hip. Harris received a bruised knee, officers said, and was charged with speeding.

Keller's 1959 sedan and Harris' 1959 auto received about $500 damage each.

Donald Sattler, 22, of Rogers R. D. 1 was charged with speeding after his 1958 coach, headed north, skidded on ice, veered off the road, hit some small trees and went over an embankment about two miles south of Rogers. He received a cut of the eyelid.

Mrs. Rosaleen Bremer, 35, of Follansbee was in "good" condition today at the hospital with injuries suffered when her car and another collided just south of Rogers.

The patrol said she lost control of her 1958 coach which veered to the left, and Andrew Weller Jr., 25, of Youngstown, driver of an approaching 1964 coach, pulled to the left to avoid the collision, but the two vehicles crashed.

She suffered a cut of the forehead, possible fractured skull and leg injuries. Weller was treated for cuts of the chin and lip and was released.

Would Nullify Tuesday Strike

Court Order Set Monday To Forbid Rail Walkout

CHICAGO (AP) — A disagreement over wages that could affect traffic on more than 90 per cent of the nation's railroads has moved from the bargaining table to the bench.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph Sam Perry said Wednesday he would issue a restraining order Monday forbidding three railroad shop unions representing more than 53,000 workers from striking for at least 10 days.

The order would nullify a strike scheduled for Dec. 15. Judge Perry said the restraining order would take effect Tuesday and run through Christmas Eve.

The unions issued a strike call Tuesday after negotiations with the railroads broke down in Washington. The railroads filed a petition in federal court in Chicago asking that the scheduled strike be postponed and requesting a temporary injunction.

Judge Perry said he would hear arguments for a temporary injunction after he issues the restraining order Monday.

The carriers argued that the strike deadline is an illegal attempt to compel the railroads to bargain directly with the three unions, rather than with the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department.

The unions, in their reply, contended the court is without jurisdiction in the dispute, the railroads' complaint fails to state a claim for relief, and the three unions are autonomous and need not bargain through the employees department.

The railroads contend a nationwide work stoppage would cost them a daily loss in operating revenues of $26,752,000.

They have stood solidly behind a presidential emergency board's recommendation of 27 cents-an-hour wage increase over three years.

The unions have demanded a 36 cents-per-hour increase, claiming their members receive less pay than workers in comparable industries.

A union spokesman said members of the three unions now average $2.74 per hour.

Judge Perry said he hoped the restraining order would not have to be extended beyond the 10-day period because he wanted to bring the case "to a head" by deciding the points of law.

Talks have been recessed since discussions broke down and no date has been set to resume them.

Waldo Hall Hit, Threatened With Knife By 2 Thugs

Two robbers fled Wednesday night with U. S. savings bonds, a coin collection and other cash with a face value conservatively estimated at $1,300 after forcing a Newell barber to open a safe at his home.

Waldo S. Hall, 425 Grant St., was assaulted by the two thugs and threatened with a knife after being lured to his garage on a pretext that his wife had been injured at church.

The robbery is being investigated by Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny's office and West Virginia State Police.

Partial descriptions of the two robbers were furnished by Hall. The 60-year-old barber, who operates a shop on 5th St., told deputies both men were approximately 5-foot-8.

Hall, 60, told deputies the two thugs were about 5-foot-8. One weighed about 150 pounds and was wearing a brown cotton jacket with a stocking mask with slits for the eyes, nose and mouth.

The other weighed about 180 but Hall said he couldn't see whether he was masked. The robber held him from behind the entire time, the barber said.

Hall said he was home alone at 7:20 p. m. when he received a phone call informing him that his wife had injured an ankle in a fall at church and that he was to pick her up there.

The voice sounded like that of a woman, the barber told deputies, leading officers to believe the thugs may have had a woman accomplice.

The barber said he immediately went out the back door

Temperature To Hit Mid-40's—With Rain

Much milder temperatures are due for the East Liverpool area through Friday but the easing of the cold snap will be accompanied by intermittent rain tomorrow.

The mercury skidded to a shivering 21 degrees at 6 a. m. downtown and was scheduled to hit the mid-40's today. Tonight's low range will be 28 to 33 degrees.

Some sections of Ohio will get rain tonight and it will spread into the Northeast half by tomorrow.

Breaks Legislative Jam

Senate Approves Apportionment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Senate approval of House-adopted reapportionment broke a legislative log jam that apparently will bring an end to the General Assembly's special session early next week.

The upper chamber, with conference committee action on congressional redistricting the final obstacle, turned today to a flock of House bills accumulated during the reapportionment squabble.

House members were sent home Wednesday, subject to recall by telegram, by Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, who said he expected the special session would end early next week, possibly Tuesday.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, saw only "an outside chance" that matters could be wrapped up before the end of the special session's fifth week.

Majority Republicans, deadlocked in caucus for two days over the House-approved reapportionment resolution, mustered their 20th and decisive Senate vote Wednesday when Sen.

Robin T. Turner, R-Seneca, yielded to pressure from his GOP colleagues. All 12 Democrats on hand voted against it.

Turner had withheld what he called "the 20th vote" because of reported dissatisfaction over a congressional redistricting plan.

"I support this resolution with serious reservations and because we all know something has to be done," Turner told the Senate.

A three-fifths majority of the 33-member upper chamber was needed to adopt the resolution which now goes before the voters in the May primary. Sen. John C. Smith, D-Montgomery, was absent.

With reapportionment out of the way, the Senate-House conference committee named to iron out differences on congressional redistricting was expected to get down to business today.

House and Senate versions of the redistricting bill were widely divergent but Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, a member

3 Wellsville Brothers Held In Wounding

Steubenville Man Shot 3 Times In Night Club Fracas

Three Wellsville brothers were to be arraigned in Steubenville Municipal Court today on charges of shooting with intent to kill resulting from a fight earlier this week in a Negro night club at Steubenville.

Michael Thompson, 22, and Frank Thompson, 27, both of 1529 Main St. and Martin Thompson, 25, of 1421 Main St. surrendered late Wednesday night.

They were sought in conjunction with the shooting of Charles Brooks, 52, of Steubenville, who is recuperating at the Ohio Valley Hospital.

Brooks was shot three times, twice in the chest and once in the abdomen, during the fracas at the 152 Club on S. 6th St., Steubenville, early Tuesday morning.

Two other Wellsville men were questioned by Steubenville police but later were released. A Steubenville man who was held for a while by police also was released.

The first two Wellsville men were picked up in Wellsville on a request from Steubenville police.

Police later issued warrants for the three brothers and sent them to Wellsville.

Police Chief John Hephner said the three were being sought late yesterday when word was received from Steubenville that the trio had given themselves up.

Drive Pushed In City For Scholar Aid Fund

Some 220 volunteer workers are nearing the end of a week-long "Dollars for Scholars" drive in East Liverpool for which a goal of $1,500 was set.

Harry Martin, chairman of the canvass, said the solicitation is taking place in 15 different areas. The workers are mostly women or high school students with a captain for each district.

The volunteers carry brown envelopes. Funds in the third annual campaign of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation are used to aid area students in college.

Complainants Absent

Charges Dropped Against Legion, Firemen's Group

Charges of possession of slot machine and whisky filed against the American Legion Post of Newell and the Firemen's Club of Lawrenceville were dropped Wednesday night by Squire Jack Bryan when the two complaining witnesses failed to appear at the hearing in New Cumberland.

The squire ordered that the court costs and charges for hauling the machines to New Cumberland and return, plus charges for storage of the machines for three weeks' be paid by the complainants.

They were identified as Joe Graham of Newell and Joe Bryan of Chester by defense counsel.

The two places were entered Nov. 18 by sheriff deputies on search and seizure warrants issued from the court of Squire Bryan.

The deputies confiscated seven "slots" in the Newell Legion and four in the Lawrenceville club and a small quantity of whisky in each place.

Arrested were Donald DeLong of the Legion and Jack Stover of the firemen's Club.

The hearings were postponed three times.

They were held last night in the Courthouse.

Richard Barnes and William Watson of Wellsburg represented the defendants.

Donald Donnell, assistant prosecuting attorney, represented the state.

The hearings started at 8 p. m. When the complainants had failed to appear 20 minutes later, Barnes moved the charges be dropped. Squire Bryan consented.

The squire declined to reveal the names of the two complaining witnesses and gave no reason for their decision not to prosecute.

"I can't see where it would serve any good purpose to reveal their names, since they did not appear," he said.

Atty. Donnell also declined to reveal the names, saying he left the matter to the court.

Joe Bryan, contacted at his Chester home, said he had been deer hunting in Morefield, W. Va., yesterday and that he had no statement at this time about his decision not to prosecute.

New Industry Funds Sought

with companies it was believed would be interested in the area. He pointed out the CIC worked closely with the Ohio Power Co., Ohio Valley Gas Co. and Monongahela Power Co. He said the area's realtors were busy on their own account at the same time negotiating with interested firms.

Resuming his remarks, Shaw pointed out the 15,000 cities in the United States are competing for new industries, but only 500 new firms are established each year.

For lack of a wide selection of property and buildings inside the corporate limits, the CIC also has checked on properties outside the city line that could be developed into an industrial complex, Shaw said.

He listed these area advantages which can be "sold" to prospects:

A strategic location in the Upper Ohio Valley; availability of an abundant water supply; a growing network of modern highways, new or planned; excellent river, rail and highway transportation; an abundance of electricity and gas at favorable rates; and a state governmental climate favorable to new business in both Ohio and West Virginia.

HE CITED these points that he said would be attractive to industrialists and new residents: Brand new school systems on both sides of the Ohio River; a healthy group of financial institutions in modern buildings; a retail area serving 100,000 persons with inventories in excess of $20 million; continuation of the city income tax assuring new improvements in the community; a highway and street program that will make the area more accessible than ever; a City Planning Commission at work on a survey that will spell out more progress; continuing downtown improvements and additional parking space; and a new Post Office building in the planning stage.

In addition, there has been talk of establishing a junior college; a county airport that would be ideal for the type of planes used by big business and a vocational or trade school to give youths the skills needed by modern industry, Shaw pointed out.

National statistics show that when a new industry is established, employing 100, it means these things to a community: 359 more residents; 91 more students in school; $710,000 more in personal income yearly; 100 more households; 229 more bank deposits; three more retail stores; registration of 97 additional cars; 65 more employees in non-manufacturing jobs, and a $331,000 gain in annual retail sales.

"WE BELIEVE in our area and the job that needs to be done," Shaw said. "The only way to get it done is to go out and do it!"

He said the CIC is planning to establish a committee to encourage East Liverpool residents to think positively of the community, continuing a growing spirit of optimism.

Shaw announced these contributions: $1,000 each from Mike Turk, Inc., and Robert E. Boyce; $1,500 from William D. Ogilvie and $300 from Maurice Rapport. These pledges were announced from the floor: Smith & Phillips Co., $1,000; John Eifer of Golden Star Dairy Co., $1,000, and Philip Miragata, $300.

Other substantial pledges were made after the close of the meeting, Shaw said.

$201 Election Costs

The Salem Area Industrial Development Corp. spent $201 in the Nov. 3 general election campaign in connection with a rezoning issue that was on the ballot in Perry Township, it said in a sworn statement filed today with the County Election Board.

The report was filed by A. L. Bricker, as president of SAIDC. The statement was the latest in a series filed with the board by candidates who sought office in the general election, as well as by committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue. The deadline for the reports is Dec. 18.

of the six-man conference committee, indicated agreement on disputes involving Montgomery and Summit counties could speed the committee's work.

The reapportionment resolution, which grew out of the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision earlier this year, provides that members of the Ohio House be elected on the basis of one member for every 69,332 population.

Provisions are included for smaller counties of less than that population whereby they would share a representative with another county or part of another county. Also included is a sub-districting formula for large counties with many times the specified population ratio.

The State Apportionment Board, now made up of the governor, secretary of state, and auditor of state, would be expanded to include four members of the legislature—one member of each party from each house.

Senate Democrats put up a valiant struggle to amend the resolution but were destined to defeat by Republicans who maintained an air-tight barrier after their final caucus.

Led by Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, D - Lucas, Democratic senators offered five amendments, including one by King that would have revamped the entire proposal.

Their principal argument was that the resolution would not stand in court.

Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, asserted the proposal would give a "promiscuous license to gerrymandering" to the apportionment board which would be faced with "too much discriminatory power and too much temptation."

Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Mahoning, expressed belief that "we will be back here before too long doing the job again, probably by court order."

Before its session ended, the House added its approval to a Senate-adopted resolution for a $290 million bond issue for higher education facilities and other capital improvements.

The lower chamber also passed bills allowing legislators to accept part-time teaching job at state-supported schools and permitting a Dayton park district to resubmit a tax levy in the May primary.

Senators, before adjourning until 1:30 p.m. today, passed a House-approved bill combining the divisions of forestry and reclamation in the Department of Natural Resources. In passing however, it was stripped of its emergency clause.

Bills on the Senate calendar for today include measures to permit the Development Department to accept federal planning grants, allow appointment of three additional oil and gas well inspectors, and permit the governor to appoint an authenticating officer to help with gubernatorial paper work.

May Primary Vote Slated On Apportion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio voters will be asked at the polls next May to approve a constitutional change reshaping Ohio's legislative districts.

The revisions will mean that starting in 1966—if the voters approve—the method used to determine membership in the Ohio House will be changed. The State Senate would not be affected.

Final legislative action on reapportionment, taken Wednesday night in the Senate, resulted from recent decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court calling for representation on the basis of virtually equal areas of population.

Ohio, because of the 1903 Hanna Amendment which provided every county at least one state representative regardless of population, stood clearly at odds with the decree.

The Legislature, after receiving a study by the Legislative Service Commission, came up with this plan:

A divisor of 140 will be used to divide into Ohio's 1960 population (the last federal census), and this will give a population ratio of roughly 69,000. Each ratio of 69,000 would be entitled to one seat in the house. At present the divisor is 100 and the ratio 97,000.

Smaller counties with less than 69,000 population—now entitled to a seat of their own—would have to share a representative with another county or part of another county.

The larger counties, some with many times the population ratio, would face a more complicated system. They could be entitled to one representative for each population ratio but an equal number of representatives would have to be elected at-large from each congressional district in the county.

Some counties with metropolitan areas include more than one congressional district.

In the case of odd numbers where equal distribution among the congressional districts would be impossible, the balance would be elected from the county at-large.

Say, for instance, that Cuyahoga County with its four congressional districts would be entitled to 23 representatives. Five would be elected at-large from each congressional district and the other three from the county at-large.

As for the shaping of districts involving more than one county, this would be left up to the State Apportionment Board.

Under the proposed constitutional change, the board would be increased from its present three members to seven. The governor, auditor and secretary of state now make up the board.

The amendment would add to the board four members of the Legislature, a Democrat and Republican from each house, to be appointed by the leader of each house.

The proposal calls for general guidelines to be followed by the board in allocating seats. These include not crossing county boundaries unless necessary and forming districts which are compact and as similar in economic and community interests as possible.

New Appeal Eyed On Regulation Of Nursing Homes

Officials of the Ohio Federation of Licensed Nursing Homes planned a conference with Columbus County Court Judge Herbert Arfman of Leetonia, legal counsel, at Columbus today on whether to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court proposed nursing home regulations.

The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday dismissed the appeal of the federation, and W. Delbert DeHass of Uniontown said the ruling was a "dark day for the small nursing home."

He said he could confer today with Judge Arfman on a possible appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The regulations were first formulated by the Ohio Health Department in 1960 and revised in 1962. The proposals have been termed comparable to U.S. standards by the Ohio Legislative Service Commission, "too minimum" by the Greater Cleveland Association of Nursing Homes, and have the support of the Ohio Association of Nursing Homes.

No More U.N. Interventions

Thanks to slick parliamentary procedure that keeps the right hand from knowing officially what the left hand is doing unofficially, there will be no 1964 showdown over delinquent dues in the United Nations.

The matter will be put over until early next year, after a Christmas recess. By that time, it is believed, the United States, Russia and France will have worked out an "arrangement."

But there is one firm result in this showdown that was narrowly averted.

There will be no more U. N. interventions. The fiasco in the Congo was the last attempt to regularize internal politics with outside forces.

The United States will never let itself be involved again.

Whatever doubts it may have after South Korea were resolved by what has happened in South Viet Nam, where it is going it alone in its peace-keeping.

The theory of intervention to keep the peace sounds good. But the practice of being criticized from all sides and undergoing a blood bath as the price of intervention is intolerable.

Intervention was only a makeshift substitute for a U. N. military arm poised to strike at aggression anywhere, anytime. The military arm never was created.

The same misgivings that made a military arm impossible finally have made makeshift military force impractical. Ironically, the United Nations had pulled out of the Congo last June. The bitter over assessments for the unsuccessful intervention there is occurring after the U. N.'s own tacit admission of failure.

Almost There!

Only 3 per cent away from its goal, the East Liverpool area United Fund drive is about ready to go over the top. All it needs is a final push from donors still to report.

Reaching the $110,000 goal would be a welcome Christmas gift for the 12 organizations who count so much on the money realized.

Forgotten But Not Gone

In the 1964 presidential election, as often before, many young Americans discovered the electoral college and were flabbergasted.

They had assumed the candidate with the greater number of popular votes always won the presidential election.

They never realized before that the Founding Fathers, fearful of popular voting, had made sure that neither the president nor U. S. senators would be chosen by that unreliable method.

The electoral college, the original device for protecting the presidency from popular voting, meets next Monday. Actually, it doesn't even do that. Electors gather in their state capitals and cast their votes for the president and vice president of the United States. They never actually see one another.

They could elect anyone. They are not bound to follow the popular vote.

Four years ago, an elector from Oklahoma, whose voters supported Richard M. Nixon, voted for Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

This year it is expected President Johnson will receive the votes of 486 electors from 44 states and the District of Columbia. Sen. Barry M. Goldwater will receive 52 votes from the six states where he came out ahead.

No one is currently pressing for reform of the electoral college, as was done four years ago, when it appeared that John F. Kennedy might have been elected president with a minority of popular votes.

Reforms appeal to voters but are mistrusted by most professional politicians, who regard the electoral college as a mystic gimmick for professional manipulation.

Reforms range from outright election by popular vote to proportional voting in the electoral college. The latter would give the losing candidate his share of the popular votes he received in each state.

But even this pallid reform is finding no support in a year when a runaway election left no doubt about the popular choice.

Thoughtful Deed

That was a nice thing members of the Lisbon Board of Education did when they turned over their pay from 1964 board meetings to the Teachers Association and the Scholarship Foundation in their community.

School board members don't become wealthy from the pay they receive, it being meager in most cases for services rendered. So it's not the money as such that brings credit to the Lisbon board, but rather their thoughtfulness and the support of worthwhile civic projects.

Sidestepping Of Responsibility

A perfect example of a discussion that gets nowhere because it started nowhere and has no sense of direction is the multi-lateral nuclear force—MFL.

Only West Germany professes to be enthusiastic about this substitute for Skybolt missiles, a patchwork understanding between the United States and Great Britain announced after the Nassau conference between President Kennedy and Prime Minister MacMillan two years ago this month. Out of that understanding on sharing Polaris missiles grew the expanded concept of a multi-lateral nuclear force.

West Germany's enthusiasm chills French enthusiasm, if any.

Britain's enthusiasm, if there ever was any, has vanished.

This leaves only the United States in a semblance of enthusiasm, and the United States is coming to believe that next worst to having one reckless finger on the atomic button would be to have multiple hesitant fingers on the button.

Nothing worthwhile ever was accomplished by a committee. It is what most people think of first when they want to sidestep responsibility.

Paying Own Way

President Johnson has ordered Postmaster General John Gronouski to make an immediate study of the possibility of raising second- and third-class postal rates.

We hope the postmaster general proposes higher rates to support his contention that second- and third-class revenue is not high enough to defray the costs of handling such mail.

We say this despite the fact this would mean higher rates for newspapers which, together with periodicals, make up second-class mail. Third class includes such mail as catalogs and what generally is regarded as "junk mail."

We feel strongly that each class of mail should pay its own way and ought not to be subsidized by any other class or made the burden of the taxpayers as a whole through deficits.

By Truman Twill

when she rhapsodizes about "squares." Without us, who would obey laws, pay taxes and give sharpies someone to get their teeth into?

If it weren't for "squares," slickers, con men, angle players and fast dealers would have to prey on the one another. This would violate the rule about honor among thieves. It would be like P. T. Barnum trying to fool another showman.

Being a "square" is a dismal state in a world full of smoothies who know all the answers to all the questions.

It is being a babe in the woods, a Salvation Army lassie in a burlesque troupe, a country bumpkin in the big city, a bonus baby with the big club, a lamb among lions.

Even on the rare occasions when nobody is taking advantage of you, making fun of you, or cursing you for blundering into the wrong pew, you are waiting for the next blow to fall.

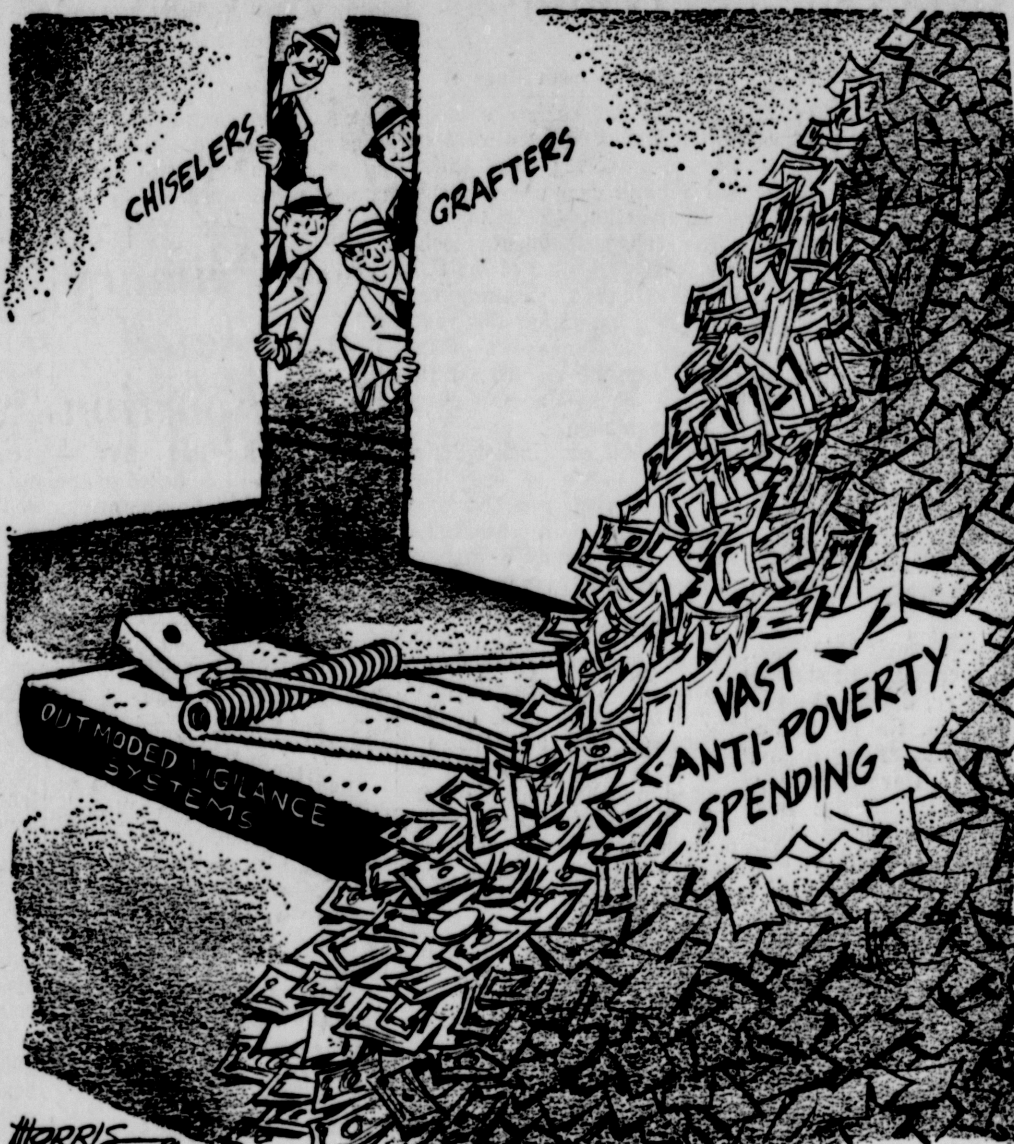

If I hadn't been a "square" all my life and didn't know how to change, I'd like to be a slicker, if only to see what we "squares" look like from the vantage point of the people who despise us.

Odd Facts

The motto of the United States, "E Pluribus Unum," which means "One out of many," or one nation composed of many states, was suggested by Thomas Jefferson.

A bee's honeycomb has walls that are only 1-80 of an inch thick, but can support 30 times their own weight.

Do We Need A Better One?

Hoffa, Facing Prison, Turns To Law

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa, one of the land's more famous dropouts, is turning to the universities for succor from imminent prison terms.

The Teamsters president, healthy and tanned from a stay in lovely Acapulco, Mexico, to which he and his high command retreated recently, is raising half a million dollars for an in depth study of abuses of American law.

He refers to this as the Teamsters Union Project which will give special emphasis to recent court decisions. Among the most recent in his scheme of things are the two federal court decisions sentencing him to eight and five years respectively in the penitentiary. Appeals on both are expected to be heard within a few days.

President Hoffa's intellectual interlude is well thought out. This is evidenced by letters he dispatched recently to the secretary-treasurers of the Teamsters' 900 locals urging them to dig into the union funds to contribute to the study of the law.

A COPY of this poignant appeal to erudition has been made available by several Teamsters officials who will refuse to contribute.

"Dear Sir and Brother: A group of America's leading professors of law and political science are concerned with government attacks on the rights of the individual, as demonstrated particularly by the Department of Justice in recent court cases," says Mr. Hoffa.

"They have agreed to establish an organization for the purpose of defending these liberties from such attack.

"I need not remind you of the importance of having men of such stature, who have no personal ax to grind, to be in our corner to the extent that they will help defend your liberties and mine as American citizens."

Further down in the communication, which Mr. Hoffa had hoped to keep from the press, he urges his locals to contribute to the project.

HE DISCLOSES that the anonymous scholars' organization will have "a two-fold objective" and therefore the funds should be sent along, presumably, to the Teamsters national headquarters since no other address is given.

The organization's first goal, according to Hoffa, will be "to write scholarly articles on pressing problems in the field of civil liberty violations, which will in turn be publicized..." He promises to place them in newspapers, magazines and have them broadcast over radio and TV networks.

The second purpose appears to promise more excitement. He tells his colleagues in the field that the organization, whose structure is not defined, will "support action programs on public issues involving civil liberties as they may arise."

FURTHERMORE, he promises that the scholars' research and findings will also be publicized "in the form of pamphlets and an annual volume compiling the various articles written relating to these problems." There is no mention of the going space rates for such pamphlets.

"A substantial grant will be made by the Teamsters Union," Hoffa promises, "for the purposes of research, articles, pamphlets, TV, radio, and other public education projects."

"I am asking you in your capacity as secretary-treasurer of your local union to contribute to this project. This will be publicized as a Teamsters Union Project."

Then comes a reference to the infra structure of the intellectual groups — all still very anonymous.

"The executive board of the organization (of scholars) is agreeable to have its names associated publicly as recipients of this grant which the board will administer freely and independently in support of civil liberty objectives."

Hoffa's confidential letter has no relationship to the American Civil Liberties Union, which has gone into the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in defense of Hoffa as an amicus curiae. Hearings on the eight-year term for jury tampering are due to be heard in Cincinnati next week.

HOFFA HAD HOPED that his cause would be helped by the decision of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives to investigate the Justice Department and the office of the attorney general. That resolution was passed last September. But little has been done by the subcommittee. It is unlikely that anything can be probed before New Year's day when the resolution dies.

With that hope gone, friends of Hoffa now count on a more professional attack by scholars — whoever they are — to create an atmosphere in which the Teamsters chief will be seen as the victim of a government conspiracy.

It will be fascinating to learn if there are savants who will lend themselves to a salvage operation.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — A total of $529 in Christmas Health seal sales was reported by school children in 20 East Liverpool schools.

Homer Laughlin Plant No. 5 at Newell, idle for about five years, resumed operations.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Ernest R. Sturgis of East Liverpool, Columbiana County coroner-elect, was chosen president of the newly-formed Ohio State Coroners Association during a meeting at Columbus.

The East Liverpool Potters, for the second straight season, dominated the All-Columbiana County football team selected by coaches and sport writers.

TEN YEARS AGO — Members of a newly-organized Girl Scout troop of handicapped girls, with Miss Bernice Allen leader, were feted during a Christmas party at the Bryan Recreation Center in Dixonville.

Mrs. John Shattenberg was named chairman of the annual Cancer Fund drive of the Chester Junior Women's Club.

Today is Thursday, Dec. 10, the 345th day of 1964. There are 21 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1832, President Andrew Jackson issued his proclamation on nullification, strongly stating the government position support at indissoluble Union. It ended a threat by South Carolina to resort to arms in fighting federal tariff acts.

On this date In 1898, Spain ceded Cuba, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippines to the United States in a treaty ending the Spanish-American War.

In 1941, Japanese torpedo planes sank the British carrier Repulse and the battleship Prince of Wales off the coast of Malaya.

In 1942, Allied forces captured the Japanese base at Gona, New Guinea.

Ten years ago — The U. N. General Assembly voted to condemn Red China for jailing American airmen.

Five years ago — President Charles de Gaulle, visiting African republics of the French community, promised them eventual full sovereignty.

One year ago — Congressional action was completed on a bill providing more than 1 billion to aid college building.

Prelude To War

By David Lawrence

Military Strategy Is For Military Men

Nobody wants war, including the Soviets, but what's going on now among the major Western powers is the same kind of political bickering that has served as a prelude to both world wars.

Moscow talks piously in public about disarmament, but privately David Lawrence must be chuckling with satisfaction over what it is observing in the West — the utter disarray, confusion and, indeed, virtual breakdown of any effective military strategy either to deter or, if it comes, to win World War III.

To conduct a war is not the task of prime ministers or presidents. It's the specific obligation of men who have spent their lives studying the mistakes of past wars and the various contingencies that may arise some day in a nuclear or non-nuclear war.

Yet the impression conveyed today is that the Prime Minister of Britain, the President of the United States, and the President of France — or a civilian commission — can determine the best military strategy. They presumably are to decide whether a multilateral mixed force of surface ships, or a broad consolidation of air, sea and land power, or a reorganization of NATO would furnish the best offense and defense.

IF THERE IS one lesson to be learned from two world wars, it is that political minds should not dominate military strategy. There wouldn't be today in Europe a whole bloc of captive countries in the hands of the Soviets or an East and West Germany or a divided Korea if sound military judgment had been used.

The contradictions in policy nowadays are ominous. British Prime Minister Harold Wilson thinks that there is little chance of a nuclear war, and hence that it's best to cozy up to the Soviets by some form of accommodation. Prime Minister Chamberlain appeased Hitler in the same way and brought on World War II.

If there's anything that a dictatorship regime is ready to take advantage of, it's the weakness and vacillation, if not the craven attitude, of a potential enemy.

Actually, Mr. Wilson, who has been conferring with President Johnson, has put forth one sound principle—namely, that a broad alliance of the Western powers with all parts of the military force joined together is better than separate contingents operating independently.

Back of the British prime minister's proposal is a belief that the United States would bear the burden of whatever expense is involved, and that fewer men would be enrolled in military service in Britain if more dependence is placed on nuclear strength which is mobilized properly in advance by the Western World.

THE UNITED STATES, on the other hand, rightly takes the position that, while an attack at the start with nuclear weapons is a possibility, not a probability, the real danger lies in what is called escalation from a conventional to a nuclear war. So the defense mechanism has to be all inclusive and sufficiently manned to fight a land war inside Europe.

President de Gaulle of France, arguing that the United States cannot be depended upon 10 or 15 years from now to defend Europe, insists on his own nuclear weapons and strategy. It's a form of sincere but misguided nationalism.

De Gaulle wants to rely on an all-out nuclear response to a Soviet attack. But American military men ask what would be done if the Soviets decide to attack with conventional forces and gain considerable ground because of the fact that France has no large or effective land force of its own to meet such an invasion.

The military experts of the United States, furthermore, believe in a strategy of a graduated defense which would be conventional if possible but which would become nuclear only when absolutely necessary.

IT'S ESSENTIAL that there be not only a comprehensive plan that stands a good chance of victory but one that has the whole hearted support of all members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The big problem is how to defend Europe and America this year and in the immediate future — not just 15 years hence. An adversary will take grave chances whenever the other side appears to be disunited.

There is no simple answer to all this. But the quicker the political leaders of the Western powers let their best military minds come up with the most effective plan for the defense of both Europe and the United States and adopt it, the sooner the question of how or when the trigger shall be pulled or by whom and how the armament expense shall be apportioned will be seen in better perspective.

The peoples of the West will more readily support whatever program is then deemed necessary to prevent a nuclear war and assure world peace.

Cabinet 'Guess' Book

By David Wise

The Cabinet that President Johnson has today will be virtually unrecognizable less than a year from now.

That is the best consensus available in the quadrennial Cabinet handicapping now in full swing in the capital.

In figuring out who stays and who goes, the handicappers generally use a form sheet. At the moment, it looks like this:

Dean Rusk: The secretary of state will stay on for six months, beyond that the predictions get hazy. He might, he might not, continue in the key foreign policy post.

Robert S. McNamara: As far back as a year ago, the secretary of defense was telling associates he did not want to remain on for another year as Pentagon chief. That still stands; besides, experience shows that after four years attrition sets in and there are diminishing returns for any Cabinet officer. He will stay for six or eight months as secretary of defense, after that may well move to another Cabinet post—state or treasury, for example.

Douglas Dillon: The treasury secretary definitely expects to leave by mid-April or soon after; he has spent half his adult life in government service. But after a year attending to his business and his health, there might be pressure on him to come back into the cabinet.

Anthony J. Celebrezze: The former Cleveland mayor will have the Cabinet; President Johnson is said to want his own choice for secretary of a strengthened Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Nicholas de B. Katzenbach: The acting attorney general would no doubt like to stay on permanently, but President Johnson seems to be in the process of deciding whether or not to keep him. The President is said to be actively looking around for other possibilities.

Orville L. Freeman: A difficult job, secretary of agriculture, and nobody is really popular in the slot. Sometime in 1965, Freeman will go.

W. Willard Wirtz: Made a big hit with President Johnson when he took over a presidential speech-writing team six weeks before the end of the campaign. The speeches were coming too slow; after Wirtz appeared the speeches came fast. Wirtz will stay in the Cabinet.

Stewart L. Udall: The secretary of the interior wants very much to stay on and has been told he can — for about a year. He was an extremely partisan supporter of President Kennedy, which may be lurking somewhere in the background as a factor.

Luther H. Hodges: The commerce secretary, despite his advanced age, is active, vigorous and stands high in Johnson's personal estimation. Nevertheless, he is not expected to remain on the Johnson team through 1965.

John A. Gronouski: He would like to stay, and he campaigned avidly for President Johnson among Polish-American groups where it was feared the "white backlash" would be strong. Nevertheless, Johnson is expected to replace him in what is traditionally a political plum office.

One word of caution: No matter how good the form sheet, ultimately everything depends on President Johnson. He owns the track and all the horses.

'Tony' Boyle Elected Mine Union's Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last spring W. A. (Tony) Boyle obtained for his United Mine Workers union a soft coal contract he said was "the best made by any labor organization anywhere."

Today, he had a new triumph: an overwhelming victory in the independent union's first contested election in 40 years. Boyle thus won in his own right the union presidency he inherited last year.

A union official said unofficial returns from Tuesday's election showed Boyle with 90 per cent of the votes in his race against Steve Kochis Jr. of Clarksville, Pa.

The 60-year-old Montana Irishman with bush red eyebrows thus has taken over as undisputed leader of his union — a post for which he has been marked for many years.

In 1948, Boyle was president of UMW District 27 in Billings, Mont., when John L. Lewis, for 36 years the union's stormy president, brought him to Washington as his assistant.

Boyle and Thomas Kennedy, the UMW vice president, helped Lewis run the union. Insiders said that when Lewis roared defiance, Kennedy quietly put on the brakes and Boyle was the man in the middle with the job of making both tactics succeed.

His years as Lewis' assistant marked Boyle for future leadership of the union. However, when asked last night for his estimate of Boyle, Lewis declined to comment.

By 1960, Lewis, then 79, was ready to retire and Kennedy, a one-time lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania who had been the union's No. 2 man for 35 years, stepped up to the top post. Boyle became vice president.

But Kennedy was 72 and in failing health. Boyle assumed more and more responsibilities, and in 1962 became acting president. The next year he became president when Kennedy died.

His first key test was to negotiate a new contract with the bituminous mine owners. The result was a contract that provided the 150,000 soft coal miners in 25 states with pay raises of $2 per day, a $25-a-year increase in vacation pay to $225 and seven paid holidays plus seniority on a minewide basis instead of according to each job classification.

New Gates Installed For Wellsville Park

Large, swinging wooden gates have been installed at the entrance of Wellsville's Hammond Park. The gates will be locked for the remainder of the winter.

The gates were constructed under the direction of Safety Service Director Fred Baldasare, according to Fire Chief Robert Lewis, chairman of the Hammond Park commission. City crews set the posts and installed the gates.

The point area at the entrance also has been cleared, Lewis reported. This was done largely by J. Frederick (Bus) Russell. A small creek drains through the park and a bulldozer was utilized to clean the creek area and grade the banks for proper drainage.

18 Cadets, 5 Seniors At Air Patrol Session

Eighteen cadets and five senior members attended a meeting of the Wellsville Civil Air Patrol Wednesday night at Daw Junior High School.

A class on first aid was taught by Lt. Gust Landis of Steubenville.

The patrol will meet at 6:45 p. m. next Wednesday. A two-hour next aid course will be conducted for all the cadets who are to serve on the search and rescue team.

Ohioan Charged With Contempt In Gaming Probe

CINCINNATI (AP)—A former executive has been held in contempt of court for refusing to answer questions in a federal grand jury investigation of alleged gambling in southern Ohio.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge John W. Peck issued the contempt citation Wednesday against Earl Coplon, who resigned this week as vice president of the Shoe Corp. of America of Columbus, Ohio.

Judge Peck also denied bond to Coplon, but he was released over night on his own recognizance on an order by the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The appeals court said Coplon was to report this morning when it was to rule on the bond refusal by Judge Peck.

Judge Peck cited Coplon after he consistently refused to answer questions put to him by the grand jury. Coplon refused to answer on grounds, he said, that he might incriminate himself.

Heights Mothers Will Hold Pupils' Party On Dec. 18

Various projects and Christmas activities were discussed at a meeting of the Pleasant Heights Mothers Club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Barbara Sisley is president.

The president reported that five Thanksgiving food baskets were distributed to needy families. She also gave a report on the cookbook project, of which Mrs. Vera Brereton and Mrs. Marifath Chaffin are co-chairmen.

It was announced that the Christmas party for the students will be held Dec. 18 and the Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association will provide the treats. Members to assist include Mrs. Mary Ellen Wheeler, Mrs. Karla Barrett, Mrs. Betty Sweesy, and Mrs. Marilyn Russell.

Officers were in charge of the social hour and the table was decorated in red and green and centered with a poinsettia plant.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13, with Mrs. Barrett and Mrs. Russell as hostesses.

Logan District Voters Defeat School Levy

BELLE FONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Logan County's Indian Lake School District's proposed 3.8 mill levy for five years was defeated by voters for the second time Wednesday in a special election.

The vote was 744 in favor and 889 against. The levy needed 55 per cent favorable vote and got but 44 per cent. The same issue was turned down in the Nov. 3 election.

Russell Point, Lakeview, Huntsville and Lewistown are included in the school district, with the district high school in Lewistown.

The action was taken to accommodate Christmas shoppers. Some merchants put Christmas wrapping paper over the meters in front of their stores.

In a similar period a year ago, $450 was collected from the city's 320 meters.

2 Police Chief Aides Are Urged In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The mayor and City Council have been asked by the improved law enforcement committee of the Youngstown Area Chamber of Commerce to include funds in the 1965 city budget for two assistant police chiefs.

The committee's request Wednesday was in line with a recommendation for the assistant chiefs by the International Police Chiefs Association last spring following a survey of the Youngstown Police Department.

The survey was started in December of last year, about a month after Charles (Cadillac Charlie) Cavallaro and his 11-year-old son, Tommy, were killed by a dynamite blast at their home on the north side.

Clamor for stricter law enforcement followed the slayings and as a result Harry N. Savasten, then mayor, sponsored legislation which was approved by Council to pay for the $20,000 survey.

In college football, the longest winning streak is 48 straight by Yale from 1885 to 1889. The longest unbeaten streak (59 won, 4 tied) is by Washington from 1907 to 1917.

Against 19 Of 21 Charged

Federal Evidence Due
In Rights Trio Slayings

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department discloses evidence today which it hopes will show the need for further legal action against 19 of 21 men charged in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers.

The government must show in a preliminary hearing before U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter, "probable cause" for grand jury action on charges filed in what the FBI calls a Kux Klux Klan plot.

Of the 21 arrested last Friday and later released on bonds, 19 are charged with conspiracy to interfere with the federal rights of the slain trio. The other two were charged as accessories after the fact.

Only the state can file a murder charge. It has made no move to do so.

Informed sources said the FBI information would be outlined to Dist. Atty. W. H. Johnson for possible state action after the preliminary hearing.

Johnson's district includes Neshoba County, which takes in Philadelphia where the bodies of the three civil rights workers were found buried in a farm pond Aug. 4.

Those charged include Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 41, of Philadelphia and his deputy, Cecil Price, 26.

Price was among 10 of the men the government accused of having actually plotted to intercept the trio and "assault, shoot and kill them."

Killed were Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro.

One of the 21 charged was arrested in Biloxi. His preliminary hearing comes up there Friday. Another was arrested in Shreveport, La., and his hearing will be held there.

The law under which the charges were made has been on the books since 1870, and was passed with an eye toward the Ku Klux Klan which was then ence, Gromyko brushed aside the question.

Johnson was understood, however, to have developed the line that he is deeply interested in easing tensions and improving East-West relations, particularly in the field of new disarmament agreements. He has made clear in the past that if there were constructive results in view he would be willing to go anywhere and meet with anyone for the purpose.

Gromyko said he brought to Johnson a message of best wishes from the Soviet leaders — the men who replaced Premier Nikita Khrushchev in mid-October.

An earlier meeting between Rusk and Gromyko over lunch at the Soviet Embassy produced what U.S. officials called a lively exchange on the war in South Viet Nam. It was on that occasion that Rusk told Gromyko the United States hoped the Soviet Union would use its influence to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko, according to U.S. informants, told Rusk the Soviet Union thought the United States should withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam. Rusk replied that the troops were in South Viet Nam to assist the government and people there in the defense against aggression from North Viet Nam and that the United States was fully informed of infiltration of men and supplies from the north into the south.

On another subject, Gromyko asked Rusk whether he had any new information to provide on the proposed formation of a nuclear weapons force by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Soviet Union has campaigned against such a force on the ground that it would put nuclear weapons into the hands of West Germany. He attacked the project in his talk with Rusk as a means of disseminating nuclear weapons more widely.

Rusk replied that the United States sees the measure as one which would block dissemination because the nuclear weapons supplied to the proposed force would be covered by such strict international safeguards that no one country would be able to employ them.

Gromyko's interest in plans for the force was sharpened by the fact that Johnson concluded Tuesday two days of conferences with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in which the nuclear weapons issue was the principal one discussed.

Gromyko flew from Moscow to New York two weeks ago to attend the opening of the U.N. General Assembly. Rusk and he held a series of talks in New York before he came here.

U.S. officials said these talks have shown no Soviet change in basic foreign policy positions. They have, however, served to strengthen the impression of U.S. policy makers that the Soviet government wants to maintain friendly relations with the West and may be ready at some point in the next year to negotiate on specific issues such as new, limited disarmament measures, settlement of Russia's long-standing lend-lease debt to the United States, and trade relations.

Forgotten Man
Now Well Known,
Left $100,000

EBENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Allan A. Barker lived in this western Pennsylvania community years ago and after he left in 1915 nobody heard much of him.

But now he's well known in these parts. He has left a bequest to the Dauntless Volunteer Fire Co.

Just how sizeable the firemen didn't know until Wednesday night when attorneys told a special meeting that Barker left the fire company more than $100,000, consisting of property in the Bradenton, Fla., area and 750 shares of stock in the First National Bank of Ebsburg.

Barker was a rancher and financier in Manatee County, Fla. He died in a Bradenton nursing home on Nov. 26 at the age of 82.

No one here recalls that he was a volunteer fireman.

Esther L. Silliman Becomes Bride Of Duane W. Witzke

A wauwau train highlighted the gown of Miss Esther Lee Silliman when she became the bride of Duane William Witzke the evening of Nov. 28 at 7:30 o'clock in the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Silliman Jr. of Voady Ln. and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Witzke of Akron.

The Rev. Thomas Clyde, pastor, officiated for the double ceremony before an altar banked with gladioli, ferns, palms and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews. Mrs. Clair Unrue, church organist, presented a half-hour recital of wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of brocade fashioned over an Empire silhouette.

The bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline and long, tapered sleeves. Soft pleats enhanced the sheath skirt. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of lace petals and pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses centered with a white orchid. The familiar traditions were observed.

Miss Linda Collins of Columbus was maid of honor and Miss Rebecca Silliman, sister of the bride, junior bridesmaid. They wore blue and green brocade dresses designed in the Empire silhouette and green headpieces and theater veils.

Bridesmaids were Miss Victoria Witzke, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Betty Deem of Columbus, former local resident. Their dresses, designed in the same fashion, were of gold brocade. The mother of the bride chose a blue textured sheath with sequined hat and brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige lace jacket dress with beige and brown accessories. Corsages of yellow teasos complemented their costumes.

Wellsville Church Women Hold 'Holy Land' Program

A program on "The Holy Land" was presented by the Rev. Sheldon Hastings, pastor of the Starkdale United Presbyterian Church, at the meeting of the Women's Association in the Riverside United Presbyterian Church at Wellsville Tuesday night.

He narrated slides of an archaeological expedition in which he participated a year ago at Tel Ashdod, which was the capital of the Phillistine empire.

He said this former city is mentioned once in the Bible, Peter having visited there. He described how an expedition is conducted and pointed out that the "patish," a favorite tool for digging, was used in Bible times for hoeing. He passed around pieces of "junk" pottery for members and guests, the Men's organization, to examine.

Rev. Hastings was introduced by Mrs. Mary Alice Pugh, program chairman, who also reported that the association was second in the Presbyterian in the reading circle program with 15 members participating. Mrs. Betsy Erwin, president, opened the meeting with prayer and presided. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Carolyn Vogel and the treasurer's by Mrs. Marian Stanway in the absence of Mrs. Ruth Olmstead.

Family Will Get Logs For Cabin As Yule Present

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — One hundred logs are too bulky to fit under a Christmas tree but they fit around one just fine.

That is what Fairbanks folks are giving the Chuck Garrett family for Christmas — a log cabin to house their Christmas tree.

The Garretts and their four children lost all their possessions when fire destroyed their home two weeks ago.

The "Give a Log" drive is being co-ordinated by University of Alaska students. Eighty logs, at $5.60 each, have been donated.

Professional builders have pledged their time to build the 24-by-38-foot house. The house-raising bee is planned next week.

Blind Children Are Thrilled In Visit To Store

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Eighteen youngsters who visited a downtown department store Wednesday were just like thousands of other children at this time of year.

They read their Christmas lists to Santa Claus and were thrilled by a tour of the toy department.

There was a difference. Their Christmas lists were in braille, the authors blind.

The children are third graders at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind. Their teacher, Norman Anderson, said:

"Our students can't walk into a toy department and perceive everything in the way that normal children do. Instead of sight, they touch, smell and hear to perceive what toys are like."

Anderson, too, is blind.

Levy Support Urged

Fund Need Cited By Beaver Local

Beaver Local School district, the third largest in enrollment in Columbiana County, has the lowest tax millage, spends less per pupil and provides the smallest amount of local revenue than any other county district.

That is the financial picture drawn by the Beaver Local Board of Education which is making an appeal for all voters to support a proposed 5.4-mill levy in a special election Jan. 5.

THE ADDITIONAL $80,000 which the levy would bring in annually would permit a number of improvements vitally needed in the district's education program—up-to-date textbooks, maximum school bus service, school supplies and other facilities.

There has been no increase in school tax millage in Beaver Local since 1957, but the school enrollment has increased by over 500 students since 1959 alone, the equivalent of two classrooms each year.

The cost of textbooks and school supplies has increased by 30 per cent or more in this period.

The board, in a statement prepared for distribution to residents of the school district, explained why it is seeking approval of the levy next month instead of waiting until May.

IN EITHER case, it would require a special election. The earlier date was selected because it is hoped the levy will pass and bus service can be restored to normal before the customary heavy snow season starts.

Secondly, the board has to have the correct financial picture for 1965 before contract discussions can be held with teachers. May would be too late. Officials said in each of the two years, one-third of the faculty has had to be replaced.

"Without a favorable vote in January, this coming year could be tragic," the board said.

The board listed figures on the general budget for the past six years, with the salary allotment in parenthesis:

1959 — $566,918 ($335,219); 1960 — $652,835 ($392,943); 1961 — $701,700 ($425,000); 1962 — $768,207 ($439,373); 1963 — $777,411 ($435,146) and 1964 — $775,681 ($480,835).

BEAVER LOCAL spends $322 annually to educate each pupil. Other district expenditures include East Liverpool, $345, Salem, $403, Fairfield — Waterford, $360, and Wellsville, $350.

Of this sum, Beaver Local gets $223 from the Ohio foundation program, compared to $165 in state aid to East Liverpool students, $115 to Salem, $124 to Fairfield — Waterford and $204 to Wellsville.

Beaver Local, which gets the largest amount of state aid, gets the smallest in federal revenue, because this aid is based on matching funds, and Beaver Local lacks sizable amounts of money for matching purposes, the board explained.

Local revenue per pupil in Beaver Local amounts to $99, compared to $179 in East Liverpool, $285 at Salem, $237 in Fairfield — Waterford and $144 in Wellsville.

ONLY 30 PER cent of Beaver Local's per pupil expenditure is raised locally. This compares with 51 per cent in East Liverpool, 70 per cent at Salem, 64 per cent in Fairfield — Waterford, 41 per cent in Wellsville and United Local, 42 per cent at Lisbon, 48 per cent at East Palestine, and 43 per cent at Leetonia.

Lack of funds has not only brought reduction of bus service, reduced use of buildings, athletic program cutbacks and other programs.

Purchase of vital textbooks has been curtailed, and second-hand books bought or outdated books rebound. The board said the district is eight to 12 years behind many textbook adoptions.

CLASSROOM furniture is badly needed. During the past year, school officials had to buy used desks from other districts or borrowed some.

Passage of the levy would cost the individual taxpayer 54 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation. Since property is assessed at 40 per cent of its market value, it would cost the taxpayer less than 6 cents a day, less than a daily newspaper.

What if the levy fails?

The board said there are two courses it could take.

The first would be to maintain the same reduced operations, open school in September and operate as long as money is available in the fall, then suspend classes until the next tax year money is available in January.

THE SECOND course would be to determine what other programs can be cut, such as eliminating most of the courses at the high school except those required to meet state standards.

Other cutbacks would be ending all activities held after school by students — such as plays, dances, proms — curtailment of maintenance expenditures, forego replacement of any school buses this year, halt purchases of library books, maps, globes, charts, science equipment, art and music materials, home economics and industrial arts supplies and other items.

The only difference between the two courses would be the time when the schools would have to suspend classes in the fall, the board said. Under the latter plan, classes might run until late November.

REGARDLESS, all time in class lost by pupils in November and December would have to be made up in June or July next year in order to comply with state law requiring 175 days of school.

Board members urged all residents to consider the district's financial plight and the important educational needs of the students, and place the schools on a sound footing for the benefit of the boys and girls who deserve the best in education.

To Quiet Protests Against Burch

Squabbling GOP Factions Due Policy-Making Voice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Squabbling Republican factions seem likely to be offered a policy-making voice in a unity move aimed at quieting the party moderates' protests against national Chairman Dean Burch.

Sen. Barry Goldwater said after meeting in New York Wednesday with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon that they agree party leadership problems can best be solved by the National Committee.

This was interpreted in Washington by some influential Republicans as indicating that the defeated GOP presidential nominee hopes to save Burch's job by having the National Committee set up an all-faction leadership council to voice party policies.

Burch, who represents Goldwater's conservative views, thus would be subordinated as a spokesman for the party.

Committee members confirmed reports that Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP vice-presidential nominee, have kept the phone lines hot trying to drum up support for Burch at the forthcoming Jan. 22-23 showdown meeting of the committee in Chicago.

Miller, who preceded Burch as national chairman, denied he was making any canvass of the committee.

"I'm just practicing law," he said.

Republican governors already have proposed setting up a policy council. Such a move has been approved by House minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana. Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has indicated a willingness to consider the proposal.

Although some of the governors have called for the replacement of Burch, they thus far have been unable to find a candidate willing to have his name put up as a rival.

Charges Election Irregularities

Jagan Maneuvers To Stay In British Guiana Power

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — Charging irregularities in the general election that cost him his legislative majority, Marxist Premier Cheddi Jagan maneuvered today to remain in the government of British Guiana.

Jagan made clear he would fight attempts to install a coalition government made up of Forbes Burnham's Negro People's National Congress and Peter D'Aguiar's ultra-conservative United Force.

Instead, Jagan, leader of the British colony's East Indians, proposed that he and Burnham join forces in a coalition as "the quickest way to achieve national independence and economic and social peace."

If Jagan achieved such a coalition, and with the East Indians outnumbering the Negroes 3 to 2, he would be in a good position to win the next election.

But the possibility of Burnham agreeing to a coalition with Jagan was considered remote. Jagan telephoned his proposal to Burnham and the latter replied, "If you send me a proposal in writing, then I'll study it."

Burnham, a moderate Socialist, has refused to team up with Jagan before.

Burnham said he had talked with D'Aguiar in general terms about a partnership. He said he anticipated no difficulties in getting together with the conservative leader.

The final official count from Monday's election showed Jagan's People's Progressive party received 109,332 votes, or 45.8 per cent, and 24 National Assembly seats. Burnham's party had 96,657 or 40.5 per cent, worth 22 seats, and D'Aguiar's forces got 29,612, or 12.4 per cent, and 7 seats.

The Burnham-D'Aguiar coalition favored by British Gov. Sir Richard Luyt would have a five-seat margin over Jagan's party.

Jagan achieved a vote plurality, just as he did in becoming the colony's first premier in 1961. But he did not get a majority, which was necessary to stay in power under the proportional representation system the British adopted to get Jagan out.

Wellsville Post Office Lengthens Yule Hours

The annual Yule mail rush has started in Wellsville, according to Postmaster Elmer J. Evans, who announced additional extended hours.

The service counter will be open Sunday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. for stamps and parcel post, Evans said.

The rush, which started Wednesday afternoon, "seems to have come a little later this year," Evans said.

Other additional hours were announced earlier.

Window Broken By Handle From Truck In Mishap

A door handle torn off a tractor-trailer rig in a W. 3rd St. collision Wednesday flew 40 feet and broke a pane in a storm window at a home nearby, police reported.

The collision involved a 1959 sedan driven by Joseph D. Howell, 19, of 911 Princeton Ave.

and a 1962 model rig operated by Fred H. Moore, 31, of 318 Wells Ave., Newell, officers said.

The door handle broke a 24-x-24-inch pane at the home of Earl Bole, 130 W. 3rd St., officers reported.

Howell told officers his car stopped running, so he steered it to the curb. Then it was hit by the rig, he said. Moore reported Howell opened the door of the car and struck the rig.

Robbery

to his garage on the adjoining property.

He was jumped by the two men as soon as he entered the garage.

After a struggle in the garage in which the barber said he was struck on the head, presumably with small sacks filled with sand, the pair forced Hall to unlock the house.

On entering, they apparently spotted the safe at the top of the basement steps and forced the barber to give them the combination.

After they opened the safe and removed the contents, they took Hall's wallet containing $68 and assorted cards and then bound his hands and feet and gagged him.

After the robbers left, Hall managed to get to his feet and went out the front door and called his neighbor, James C. Todd, 423 Grant St.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd cut Hall's bonds and Mrs. Todd notified the sheriff's office at 8:10 p. m.

Hall told deputies the loot included 41 savings bonds in denominations of $25 and $50 and a coin collection with a face value of approximately $500.

The barber said this morning he has not determined the actual value of the collection.

It included two or three rolls of Indian head pennies dated from 1858 to 1908, a nearly complete set of Morgan quarters dated from 1892 to 1916, 24 Peace - type silver dollars, 16 Morgan silver dollars, a nearly complete set of Mercury dimes and a complete set of Roosevelt dimes, Hall said.

There also were nine bills with Hawaiian overprints. They included six $1's, a $20, a $10 and a $5.

There also were two $10 "African invasion" bills, one marked with a star.

Wellsville Republican Group Plans Election

A nominating committee was named to prepare a slate of officers at a meeting of the Wellsville area Young Republicans Club Wednesday night at the Carnegie Library.

Appointed were Allen Dalrymple, City Treasurer Tom Grafton and Councilman Meryle Kenny.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford, president, conducted business.

A discussion was held on prospective candidates for the May primary. Anyone interested in seeking an office should attend the next meeting Jan. 13, officers said. Precinct committees also are invited.

into the inquiry months ago in testimony by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, about the purchase of advertising time on an Austin, Tex., television station controlled by President Johnson's family.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., the committee chairman, said he would issue a statement later on decisions taken at a closed meeting Wednesday that lasted for four hours.

Disclosure that Jenkins would be called for questioning came from Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., at the start of a public hearing following the closed meeting of the committee.

Cooper said he felt compelled to reveal the committee's decisions since he had been informed that Jordan had told newsmen he thought the Kentucky senator was "happy" about what had taken place at the meeting.

Jordan said in reply he had not intended to infer that Cooper had agreed with the actions taken by the committee's Democratic majority.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

Prince Chad, the Singing Turtle, and the Snowman arrive in Santa Land to attend the Christmas Music Festival.

CHAPTER SIX
"SANTA LAND" read the big sign on the snow station. "We're really here!" exclaimed the Prince. "I can't believe it."
"I can," said the one-eyed Snowman, taking in deep breaths of the icy air. "I feel better already. Why, in this climate, I will last ten thousand years!"
"But where are the musicians?" wondered George. "I was sure I would hear them practicing."
"Let's go see!" cried Prince Chad.

HE DARTED away from his slow, plodding companions and raced across the snow-covered fields past row on row of workshops, barns and stables. He came to a little red-shuttered house with smoke curling from the chimney. He knew this was it—Santa Claus' house.

He walked all around it and peeped through the curtained windows. He tapped softly at the door. There was no answer.

George and the Snowman finally arrived. George said impatiently, "Knock louder, for goodness' sake!"
The Prince knocked and the Snowman pounded with his heavy fists and George tapped with his little tail. Suddenly the door flung open.

There stood Patrick Tweedle- knees, a crooked-legged, bent-backed, near-sighted elf who clearly had just been awakened from a very fine sleep and did not at all like being disturbed. "Stop that hullabaloo!" he shouted. "Can't you see I'm working?"

THE PRINCE was so aston-

"Who are you anyway?" Tweedleknoses said fussily.

ished he stepped backwards, tripped over George and fell off the porch. The elf peered at him and said fussily, "Who are you anyway and what's that thing on your head?"

"I am Frederick Chadwick Anthony Matthew Christopher John," stammered the Prince. "The thing on my head is a crown because I am soon to be King of Razenple. Could we see Santa Claus, please?"

"Santa Claus! He's gone to the Music Festival, as you should certainly know if you are about to be a king."
"The Music Festival!" cried George in alarm. "But we have come here to the Music Festival. I am to sing!"

"Sing if you wish but no one at the Festival will hear you," snapped Tweedleknoses. "The Festival is in Fairyland. It begins tomorrow and you can never get there in time."

George was stunned with disappointment. He pulled his head inside his shell. Then he pulled his feet in and his tail, too.

"Now see what you have done," said the Snowman towering over the elf. "You've broken his heart!"

"ME!" PROTESTED Tweedleknoses angrily. "I'll have you know tomorrow is Christmas Eve and I have my hands full getting everything ready, doing all the work, taking all the responsibility while Santa is away having all the fun. Then you come along and blame me because you came to the wrong place! Well, I say, pooh to you!" With that the elf went in the house and slammed the door.

The three visitors sat on the steps. The Prince said "I never thought Santa Land would be like this." And the Snowman said, "I don't even want to stay here any more." George said nothing, but two big tears rolled out from under his shell.

Suddenly the door flung open and Patrick Tweedleknoses was back. "I can't stand this racket," he grumbled. "I'll send you to Fairyland. Make your racket there."

George's head darted from his shell. "You mean — you can get us there in time for me to sing?"

"I can see it's the only way I am to have any peace," snapped Tweedleknoses. "Meet me at workshop number six in two hours and I will give you boots that will get you to Fairyland before tomorrow's dawn."
"Oh," said George gratefully. "I will sing for you now!"
"Spare me!" retorted Tweedleknoses. "It's the least you can do." And turning on his heels he stalked off to workshop number six.

65 At BPW Club's Annual Christmas Dinner Program

The Christmas story in narration and song was presented at the annual holiday dinner party of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel and 65 attended.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop read the introduction and "The Legend of the Befana." Mrs. Mary Walrath read "The Portrait of Joseph" and Mrs. Doris McKinnon "The Portrait of Mary." Christmas legends were told by Mrs. Mildred Cooper, Mrs. Hilda Edgar, Mrs. Jean Conrad and Mrs. Dorothy Evans.

The choir was comprised of Miss Joan Witt, Miss Helen Auld, Mrs. Mary Franklin, Mrs.

Gertrude Sixt, Mrs. Ethel Wambaugh, Mrs. Caroline Mountford, Mrs. Martha Plotts, Miss Gladys Rinehart, Mrs. Eva Mills, Miss Helen Bibbee, Mrs. Mary McCullough and Mrs. Clara Hall. Mrs. Jane Rife was accompanist.

The gift exchange was conducted by Mrs. Mildred Urie, Mrs. Anna Mae Weeda, Mrs. Dorothy Crooks, Miss Witt and Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. McKinnon, president, announced the Nike Club, which the group sponsors at the high school, will meet Monday in the conference room of the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Forms for prospective members were distributed by Mrs. Eva Mills, membership chairman, who asked they be returned by Jan. 20.

Mrs. Walrath read the state legislation platform which the group voted to accept.

Mrs. McCullough, vice chairman of the Child Health Clinic, said the annual Christmas party will be held Sunday at the Elks Club ballroom. Members will meet 7 p. m. Friday to decorate the hall and wrap the gifts and at 1 p. m. Sunday to prepare for the children. Mrs. Virginia Manypenny will have charge of the tree and Mrs. Geraldine Bricker, the refreshments.

The Executive Board was in charge of the session and the tables featured Christmas centerpieces and candelabra with bell bases. Mrs. Sixt led in repeating the Collect. Mrs. Dunlop baked the shortbread served along with the dinner.

The personal development committee will arrange for the next dinner session Jan. 13 at the hotel.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I paste each "Heloise" in a large magazine that has heavy, slick pages.

Starting on the left hand side, I can usually get three whole columns on one page. I paste these columns across the pages sideways, not up down.

My magazine is getting fatter and fatter, and I am pleased with my Heloise scrap book. This is the most useful way I have found to keep these precious clippings.

MARY SPINA.

Ladies: So many women have written in asking how to file hints they want to save, and this seems to be the best answer yet:

Those who are just starting this method may like to take five magazines (these magazines don't cost a cent now, as we have already paid for them and read them, eh?)... Put kitchen hints in one magazine, sewing hints in another, laundry hints in another, and so on. This way, you won't have to thumb through the entire magazine to find what you're looking for... Label 'em "Kitchen, etc."

Thanks, Mary and I send my love.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Your instructions on how to wash fiberglass drapes are great.

As I was rehanging my pinch-pleat drapes (all damp and droopy and wondering how they'd look when dry) my neighbor suggested that I pinch the pleats together with my fingers and push an ordinary clothespin over them.

I did this, and the pleats are perfect!

BETTY SHURIE.

DEAR HELOISE: Clip clothespins firmly along one outside edge of your dish drainer for the unbreakable plastic glasses, cups, etc.

The pins may lean, so place your plates in the drainer first and let the glasses lean forward.

Makes extra space. Oh, how much more you can drain... MILDRED KIEFFER.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: You may not think this is a very nice gift for a bride, but don't judge too quickly. It brought many a laugh at the shower, and many smiles and only an occasional groan during the first few weeks of our marriage. It holds a tender place in our memories, and we've never forgotten the gift or the giver.

The gift? Thirty-six cans of fruits, vegetables, etc., individually wrapped with pretty paper and a bow — and all the labels removed!

SURPRISE SUPPER
"BRIDE AND GROOM."

DEAR HELOISE: We bought a home that is about 10 years old. The kitchen cabinets have a varnish finish. I find that the four doors used the most are sticky only around the handles. No amount of elbow grease and different cleaners have removed this. Does anyone know the cause, and what can I do about this?

"T."

Does anyone know the answer to this frequent problem on cabinets these days? If so, please write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. We get so many letters like "T's". Sure wish some sweet gal would help us solve it.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When my little girls come down with flu or colds, in order to make them drink their liquids, I prepare tea parties with their own little tea sets.

They think this is real fun, and it takes their mind off their illness for a while. Besides, you should see how much liquid they gobble down!

MARY C.

DEAR HELOISE: We have all kinds of sprays to discourage household odors, but most smell too much like perfume.

When my mother burned something on the old coal and wood range, or if household odors built up, she just sprinkled ground cinnamon on the hot surface. Try it!

C. H. KRUEGER.

I tried this in my own oven. And it works beautifully! Thanks a million! I later looked for the apple pie... but couldn't find it!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here are three uses we make of old tooth brushes:

TO APPLY SHOE POLISH: We use a different brush for each color polish. The handles enable the fingers to stay clean, while the small brush gets into tight places. Especially handy when shining multi-colored shoes.

TO CLEAN COMBS: The bristles get right in among the teeth of the comb and do a good cleaning job.

TO CLEAN EYEGASSES: My optician recommended a SOT toothbrush to clean the soil that accumulates where the lens meets the frame.

MRS. SIDNEY S. FABER.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal Office of Coal Research has awarded Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio, a $59,000 contract to survey the current and future cost and market potential for low-BTU industrial gas and for hydrogen. Aluminum Subsidiary To Be In Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP) — Aluminum Limited (Alcan) has announced establishment of a new aluminum sheet fabricating subsidiary that will be headquartered in Cleveland with a payroll of nearly 2,000 workers.

The subsidiary, to be known as Alcan Aluminum Corp., will take over the operation of six sheet rolling and finishing plants in five states, including one at Warren, Ohio. The Warren mill, now owned by National Distillers and Chemical Corp., will produce a wide range of cold-rolled sheet products.

Last year's collections totaled nearly $400,000. This year's fund so far has reached $280,000 and is ahead of last year's pace.

'Mother,' Popular Ohio TV, Radio Hostess, Becomes Ill

CINCINNATI (AP) — For the past 25 years thousands of loyal fans have heeded the pleas of a popular radio and television hostess and contributed $3 million for the benefit of hospitalized children.

Now their leader is ill—at the height of her annual "Christmas Fund" drive—and must spend the holidays in bed.

Ruth Lyons, affectionately called "mother" by thousands of women in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana who listen to her daily 90-minute "50-50 Club" on WLW radio and the Crosley Broadcasting Corp.'s four-station television hook — up, is suffering from "complete physical and emotional exhaustion." Doctors say she must remain bed until sometime after Jan. 1.

Miss Lyons' illness comes at the peak of what appears to be the biggest "Christmas Fund" since she started the annual campaign in 1939. The money is used to buy toys for hospitalized children and purchase equipment for children's hospitals in the three states served by Crosley.

Miss Lyons was the recipient of McCall Magazine's "Golden Mike" award this year for out-

Group Elects At Pughtown

James Beagle was re-elected president and John Pittenger returned as chief in the annual election of Pughtown volunteer firemen Tuesday night at the station.

Also re-elected were Dean Wern, vice president; Ralph Huff, secretary; Ray Mitchell, assistant chief; Richard Cameron, captain; Beagle, first lieutenant, and John Yantz, second lieutenant. Yantz was elected treasurer to succeed William Bailey.

Firemen approved plans to purchase $757 in equipment for a new fire truck. A portable pump, hose and nozzles will be included in the purchase from the Weirton Heights Fire Equipment Co.

Mitchell was named chairman of decorating the fire hall for the holidays. Beagle announced firemen are to meet Friday night at 6 to clean the fire hall.

Efforts Pressed To End Strike At Loblaw Grocery

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials of a trucking company and Teamsters Local 377 conferred Wednesday in attempts to end a strike and picketing as the Loblaw Grocery in Youngstown, Ohio.

Henry and James McNicholas of the J. V. McNicholas Co. talked for about three hours with John J. Angelo, secretary-treasurer of Local 377, and two other union leaders, Abe Schwartz and Joseph Sammartino.

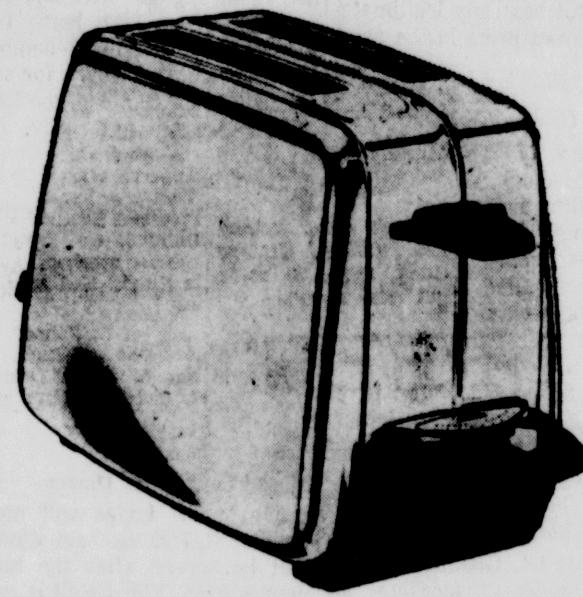

The conversations were held in one of the offices of the headquarters of the Teamster Union pension fund. James R. Hoffa, president of the international union, conducted business in a nearby office but did not join in the strike party.

An observer from Loblaw also was on hand.

Local 377 struck against Loblaw at midnight Saturday. The company's contract with the Teamster Union ran out, and it engaged the McNicholas firm to make deliveries of goods from Loblaw's food warehouses in Youngstown.

The Teamsters complained that McNicholas hired only 80 or 90 drivers, whereas Loblaw had used 130.

Boy Absolved In Entry Case

Joe Louis Murray, 17, of East Liverpool, was found not guilty today by a jury in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon on a charge of burglary last July 1 at the home of Mrs. Bessie Walker on Mulberry St.

The 12-member jury deliberated a total of three hours and 15 minutes before returning the verdict at 10:45.

It was the second trial for the youth. The first ended in a hung jury Nov. 27 and the panel was dismissed. The second trial opened Monday before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

The youth's case originally was taken into Juvenile Court, but was referred to the Grand Jury. An indictment was handed down, resulting in the trial in Common Pleas Court.

Closing arguments in the case were presented Wednesday afternoon. The jury took the case at 3:30 and deliberated until 5. The panel then returned at 9 this morning and resumed its study.

The state's case was built upon a fingerprint allegedly found on a glass broken in a back door to gain entrance to the home. The state alleged the home was entered while Mrs. Walker and her daughter, Mary Ellen, were sleeping.

Mr. Novak Loses His Principal

Dean Jagger, popular with TV watchers as the school principal in "Mr. Novak," is leaving the NBC series on doctor's orders to take an indefinite rest.

The 61-year-old actor has had a recurrent ulcer ailment.

"We understand it's nothing acute," a network spokesman said, "but it has been aggravated lately by his heavy work load, making him most uncomfortable."

THE NBC OFFICIAL said MGM-TV, which produces "Mr. Novak," is about five shows ahead, which means Jagger will continue to be seen in the Tuesday night dramas until some time in January.

The studio is looking for a replacement, but if no one is immediately found, the show's scripters will "write around" the role of principal for a while.

The NBC official said, when asked whether Jagger might return to the series if his health became better, that this appeared doubtful.

The spokesman denied knowledge of any difficulties between the studio and actor such as were reported last year in TV circles. At that time, Jagger was said to be expressing displeasure because he felt he was not being featured strongly enough. He has played a supporting role to James Franciscus, the "Mr. Novak" of the series.

THERE PROBABLY will be only five, instead of six, of those 90-minute, United Nations dramas planned for this TV season.

The $4 million appropriated by the sponsor to finance the productions is proving none too much, even though top movie producers, playwrights and stars are contributing their services to the project for scale pay.

The first teleplay in the series, "Carol for Another Christmas," written by Rod Serling, produced by Joseph L. Mankiewicz and starring Peter Sellers, Sterling Hayden, Eve Marie Saint and Steve Lawrence, will be shown on ABC Monday, Dec. 28, at 9:30 p.m.

A SPOKESMAN for the Tel-sun Foundation, set up to produce the programs, said that "from all present indications, there will be only five" of the dramas. "They are proving more costly than originally estimated."

Some are being filmed in foreign locales.

Originally four of the films were to be shown on ABC and two on NBC.

The series is designed to dramatize various activities of the United Nations. The sponsor will forego commercials entirely.

Mankiewicz, incidentally, has disclosed what it was that ABC's legal and continuity acceptance departments objected to in "Carol for Another Christmas." Sterling, in New York several weeks ago, reported the network had demanded script changes, but did not describe them.

IN "CAROL," a modern-day adaptation of the Charles Dickens Christmas story, Sterling Hayden portrays an isolationist-minded industrialist, named, in the original script, Ben Grudge, as a more probable kind of 1964 name for Ebenezer Scrooge.

ABC officials decided, according to Mankiewicz, that Ben Grudge, especially because of the initials, might be construed as a veiled depiction of Barry Goldwater.

At the network's insistence, the producer and Serling agreed to change the name to Dan Grudge.

Mankiewicz made no effort to conceal his utter disgust with the network demand. He said, however, that ABC had agreed that no further changes would be ordered, and he feels the drama, now in final editing, achieved the pointed moral he sought — that non-involvement in world's affairs is inexcusable, if not fatal.

No U.S.-Soviet Accord Reported In Budget Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Was there an agreement between the United States and Russia to cut down on defense spending?

"No agreement whatsoever," White House press secretary George Reedy said Wednesday after Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin announced in a Moscow speech that Russia was cutting its defense spending by $555 million. He also said Washington was expected to reduce its military budget.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said he hopes to hold defense spending next year below $50 billion — at about the level for the current fiscal year. That would be about $125 billion below the previous fiscal year. Reedy said these figures may have been the basis of Kosygin's statement.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Books Are Good Christmas Gifts

I wish parents looking forward to Christmas would consider books, good books, among the gifts they are going to buy for their children.

Some parents who mean to include books may find just before Christmas that they have spent so much on other gifts that little or nothing is left for books.

Most wise parents think of books early and set aside in their Christmas budget a fair amount for them.

Just to be read once, a book may provide many hours of enjoyment and besides, it may be read over and over again and other children may enjoy it. Consider, too, the educational value of a book in comparison with most other gifts at comparable cost.

In choosing books for Christmas gifts, select good ones with attractive illustrations. There has never been a time when so many attractive books with good reading have been on the market.

BE SURE to include some books which have stood the test of time. With some of them, you may be familiar. Your local librarian will be glad to show you some of the best of them which are still being published.

Ask her to show you some of the children's classics; some you enjoyed as a child yourself. A number of publishers are bringing out some of these treasures in attractive form. At your best bookstore you may also see samples of them. Look them over before buying.

Try to know your child's reading interest and ability in order to select books not too hard for him to enjoy.

I well remember that, when I was a lad between eight and twelve, an aunt of mine who greatly encouraged me in education always bought me a lovely book for Christmas. The book she gave me was too hard for me to read with pleasure. It was a book meant for a child of about my age, but this kind of aunt did not realize how poor a reader I was then.

UNHAPPILY I remember that I almost dreaded to receive her book gift. I knew she expected me to read it and tell her what I got from it. I would labor over it painfully and in discouragement, put it down and go out to the barn and talk to the cows and horses.

Several years ago she passed away at the age of 96, but I never had the heart to tell her my experience with the books she used to give me for Christmas.

You might want to include a good desk dictionary for your school-age child or a standard encyclopedia or a good set of storybooks and the like, including those of wide age-range in reading difficulty.

The advantage of such a set is that, if bought for the younger child, he will have on hand stories, facts and challenges for activities over a number of years. The disadvantages may be that you may have considerable money tied up for some materials he won't use for years to come or may never use. Much may be said for purchasing single story books which the child can enjoy right away.

REMEMBER books for the child too young to read, books from which to read to him. As he will like to listen from the same book over and over again, borrowing books for him from the library may not prove practical.

Do include one or more of the children's magazines. When you subscribe to one, the child gets it regularly by mail the year around. These magazines are different from books, as they provide a wide variety of interesting things to listen to, read or do.

Many parents who provide several magazines for themselves may not think of any for their children.

My bulletins, "Why Read to the Baby and Young Child" and "Home Helps for Poor Readers I and II," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Johnson Not To Wear Traditional Attire

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will dispense with the traditional top hat and morning coat at his inaugural, taking the oath in a black suit and four-in-hand tie.

The word on what the President will wear Jan. 20 came Wednesday from his wife's press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter. She also said the President planned to appear in dinner jacket and black tie at the four inaugural balls to be held in the capital that night.

Judge Rules 1963 Property Tax Is Unconstitutional

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A common pleas court judge has ruled that a 1963 personal property tax bill is unconstitutional.

Judge Joseph M. Harter said Wednesday that the bill is contrary to Ohio and federal constitutions.

The bill changed the percentage of a firm's inventory and contesting firms held it gave an unfair competitive advantage to companies with small inventories.

Those that challenged the bill included the Kroger Co., the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., and Colonial Stores, Inc.

The three contended that the bill denied them equal protection of the law guaranteed by the constitution.

Prior to October 1963, personal property held for sale was carried on tax lists at 70 per cent of its actual value. The new law set the tax at 66 per cent of value on the first $100,000 of inventory for 1964.

This was to be decreased by 100,000 until 1968 when the tax would be based on 50 per cent of value.

Pleas Court Rejects Woman On Damages

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Ninth District Court of Appeals has ruled that an Akron woman cannot collect damages for injuries suffered in a fall by claiming a bartender wrongfully supplied her with too much liquor.

The ruling Wednesday upheld a decision by Judge John M. Kelly of Summit County Common Pleas Court, who dismissed a $50,000 damage suit brought by Miss Norma Palmer against American Legion Post 625.

Boy Killed, Brother Injured In Collision

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Lynn Barnhart, 17, of Rt. 3, Van Wert was killed Wednesday and his 16-year-old brother Ronnie was critically injured in a car-truck collision about 11 miles east of here.

The Barnhart boys were riding in an auto driven by their uncle, James Barnhart. Ronnie was taken to St. Ritz's Hospital in Lima with a broken neck.

Lunch was served by the first grade homeroom mothers with Mrs. Shirley Saling chairman and the combination first and second grade, with Mrs. Margaret Kountz chairman.

The date of the January meeting will be announced, and a report of the bylaws will be presented by Allen Smith, Donald Thorne and Kenneth Schneider.

Sargus Only Democrat For Mining Bill

By W. S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS — A bill aimed at beefing up enforcement of strip mine regulations was passed by the Senate Wednesday over nearly solid Democratic opposition.

Only Democrat to back the bill was Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, St. Clairsville, who repeated in floor debate his intent to press for passage of a tighter strip mine law in the next session of the assembly.

The Senate stripped the bill of its emergency clause and it now must go back to the House for concurrence.

The measure would combine the Divisions of Forestry and Reclamation and give the chief of the joint division power to make rules and regulations for enforcement. Sponsors say it would free more personnel for enforcement.

Sen. Ed Witmer, D-Canton, who sponsored an unsuccessful strip mine bill in the regular session, charged that this measure may be used by the administration to dodge passage of a "good" bill next year.

Elected As Directors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert M. Wopat of Marion, and Frank T. Quatman of Lima, were elected to the board of directors of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association at the group's annual meeting here Wednesday. Wopat is president of General Telephone Co. of Ohio and succeeds Clare E. Williams of Marion, who resigned. Quatman is vice president of Telephone Service, Inc., and replaces his late father, George B. Quatman.

To Remain As GOP Chairman

Ike, Nixon Tell Goldwater Burch Requires Mandate

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon have told Sen. Barry Goldwater that his hand-picked GOP chairman must have a mandate, not just a majority, to stay at the helm of the party.

Nixon relayed that word after a summit talk Wednesday with the former president and the party's defeated nominee for the White House. The three party leaders met for an hour in Eisenhower's Waldorf Towers suite. Then Nixon and the former president talked separately.

Goldwater said the three all hope the rift between GOP moderates, some of them out to oust Republican National Chairman Dean Burch, and the party's conservative wing can be healed before the National Committee meets in Chicago Jan. 22 and 23.

The committee will decide then whether to keep Burch as chairman.

Both Eisenhower and Nixon said they told Goldwater the party needs a broadly based leadership in the months ahead. Nixon put it this way:

"We feel, and Sen. Goldwater agreed, that the national committee must have broad-based support — not unanimity, but a majority of one is not enough." He made the comment after telling newsmen that Burch's own polls indicate the chairman now has the National Committee votes he needs to hold onto the post Goldwater gave him.

Nixon said neither he nor Eisenhower will say or do anything publicly to influence the committee's decision.

"We do not have a candidate for the chairmanship," he said. "I am not prejudging what the National Committee should do."

Eisenhower said later, "We are going to have to have a leadership that satisfies by and large all of the sections of the party and that's the committee's responsibility."

The three GOP leaders spoke separately after their meeting while Burch waited across the hall from the Eisenhower suite. The chairman said he had wanted to be on hand in case he was needed.

Goldwater spoke to newsmen first, standing on a chair in the packed lobby of the hotel to make a statement with no questions accepted.

"We see no impossible task ahead," he said. "We feel that unity can be achieved by both sides giving in this case, and that is what the three of us dedicated ourselves to achieving in the months ahead."

"We all of us want to see no blood dropping on the ground," Eisenhower called for flexibility on the part of all Republicans.

"If you are going to get a consensus anywhere you have got to be a little bit flexible," he said. "You can't put a square peg into a round hole."

Eisenhower said Goldwater is the titular head of the party and must take the lead in the drive for unity.

"We were very anxious that there be no blood letting," he said. "No vindictiveness to further antagonize any portion of the party."

The flight training is guaranteed recruits provided the applicants agree to serve on active duty for three years, the sergeant said.

Sgt. Valior said additional information is available by visiting the recruiting station at the Post Office or by telephoning FU 6-4262.

Sentence Due Dec. 18 For 2 As Red Spies

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — John W. Butenko and Igor A. Ivanov are scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 18 for conspiring to commit espionage.

The charge, one of three on which Butenko was convicted Dec. 2, carries a maximum penalty of death.

U.S. Dist. Judge Anthony J. Augelli, who presided at the pair's trial, announced the sentencing date Wednesday.

Butenko, 39, an American engineer, and Ivanov, 34, a Russian chauffeur, were convicted of conspiring to relay U.S. Air Force secrets to the Soviet Union.

Both also were convicted of conspiring to violate the law requiring registration of foreign agents. On a third count against Butenko, he was found guilty of acting as an unregistered agent for Russia. These charges carry maximum sentences of five and 10 years imprisonment, respectively.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: It's difficult to remain silent when I see trouble ahead but if you say so I will.

The girl who lives next door is 32 years old. (We went to high school together.) Bella is a sweet person, but very plain, and I'm afraid she's not very smart about the ways of the world.

She has taken a tumble for a bus driver who is handsome, sweet talking and a total heel. The man is married and has a family but it doesn't interfere with his social life one bit. I've seen women pass up buses in bad weather just to ride with him.

My neighbor's parents have been away for several weeks and the bus driver has been a frequent visitor.

Shall I do Bella a favor and give her a rundown on this rat's history or should I keep my mouth shut?—LITTLE BIRDIE.

Dear Birdie: Bella doesn't want to be tipped off, so keep quiet. Let's hope she gets smart before she finds herself stranded in the boon-docks—with no transfer.

Out In Cold

Dear Ann: My husband's mother lives in a neighboring state. In the 15 years Clyde and I have been married she never once has put my name on a card or a letter. She often underlines the word Mr. to make sure I won't open the letter by mistake.

The only time my mother-in-law mentions me is when I'm ill. Then she writes, "Please tell Evelyn I hope she is back on her feet soon so she can do her housework and be a wife to you."

I've never failed to send my mother-in-law a gift on Mother's Day and on her birthday. (She spends Christmas with us.) Not once has she remembered me or the children on any occasion whatever.

Am I a fool to have remained silent all these years? Maybe I should blow my top and tell both Clyde and his mother how I feel.—PRESSURE COOKER.

Dear Cooker: Then what would you have—besides a blown top, a hole in the ceiling and an angry mother-in-law?

Be thankful the doll lives in a "neighboring state." Some wives have it next door.

Naive Bachelor Girl

Dear Ann: I'm a 23-year-old college graduate who should know all the answers but I don't.

Please list some ground rules for working girls who have their own apartments. I'm confused about what is right and what is wrong when young men visit.

Some of my girl friends have given parties that went on so long the fellows became exhausted and fell asleep on the floor. By the time they woke up they decided it was silly to go home so they went to work from there.

No matter how you look at it these boys stayed all night. Is this wrong or right—even if nothing out of the way occurred?

And is it respectable for two working girls to have two young men in for dinner? Is it proper for a young woman to go to a young man's apartment and prepare dinner for the two of them? I need answers. Fast.—NAIVE.

Dear Naive: I'm typing as fast as I can and I hope this letter reaches you in time.

It is NOT proper for guests (male or female) to fall asleep on the floor and stay all night. Anyone who gets too tired to sit up should go home.

Thumbs up on having young men in to dinner. How else can a girl show off her cooking?

Thumbs down on going to a man's apartment to cook dinner for him. And the girl who doesn't know why usually finds out too late.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cincinnati's Crime Rate Seen On Rise

CINCINNATI (AP)—Crime is continuing to rise in Cincinnati and the estimated 16,280 major crimes that will be recorded this year will be the highest in 38 years, says a police official.

Geygan, in a report Wednesday, based his prediction on crimes committed in the first 11 months of this year and on anticipated crime during December.

No Parking Spot—And Splash He Goes

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Before settling down for the night, salesman T. L. Flanagan, 67, of Dallas left his motel room and drove to buy a magazine.

As he returned, Flanagan mistook a swimming pool patio between two cars for an empty parking spot.

The car skidded on the wet paving and dived into the pool. Flanagan waded ashore as the vehicle sank.

Soviet-China Dispute

Kremlin Marks Time On Issue, Eyes Domestic Woes

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The post-Khrushchev Soviet regime seems to have decided that attempts to restore a semblance of world Communist unity add up to a bad gamble. Apparently it has turned inward to domestic problems instead.

The 1965 budget, unveiled Wednesday in the Supreme Soviet (parliament), and accompanying official statements appear to envision a period of relatively relaxed relations with the United States. Probably this must be at the expense of improved relations with Red China and the world's impatient ultra-revolutionary Communists.

Evidently the Kremlin plans a period of marking time in the global political contest while the new regime entrenches itself and decides what directions it will take in the future.

Budget statements and pronouncements from the official press in recent days have shown a marked tendency to defy Red Chinese criticism and plug ahead on the theory that the pressing needs of the Soviet internal economy cannot be shunted aside.

The statements pay lip service to world Communist unity, but there are deviations in the Kremlin attitude to delight the sniping critics of Soviet policies. Steps toward rational development of the Soviet economy, as outlined in the budget statements, surely will bring more anguished howls from Chinese and other critics who have accused the Kremlin of infusing bourgeois ideas among the Soviet people and leading them toward capitalism.

While Soviet budget figures for arms spending often are unreliable, hiding such items in other categories, there clearly is considerable new emphasis on spending for consumers, probably at the expense of some military outlays.

There are to be a stepup in home construction, more investment in agriculture, wage increases for factory and office workers and substantial increases in the light and food industries.

There are increases in social-cultural outlays, for health and education, and in pensions which, according to the announcement, will raise the number of Soviet pensioners to more than 30 million.

Planning henceforth will be on the basis of customers' orders not only in the consumer industries but in other branches, the regime said. Restrictions on private garden plots of farmers will be lifted and material incentives for production will be increased.

In the field of foreign policy, Premier Alexei Kosygin vowed continued Soviet support for revolutionary movements in Asia, Africa and Latin America. But at the same time he plumped for developing better relations with the United States and other Western nations. He laid heavy stress on developing trade with the West over a long period.

The new regime has failed to back down, also, in the ideological dispute with Red China. In advance of the opening of this Supreme Soviet session, the newspaper Pravda carried a long and important article on "The State of the Whole People," a restatement of the Soviet Communist contention that the U.S.S.R. has advanced beyond the state of the "dictatorship of the proletariat."

This theory, first advanced by Nikita Khrushchev at the 22nd Soviet Communist Congress in 1961, has been a sore point in the persistent quarrel with Peking, which has heaped scorn on the idea and demanded its repudiation. Pravda not only failed to repudiate it but gave the theory renewed emphasis.

Perhaps the new Soviet regime has decided that a developing contest with its big neighbor, China, for influence in Asia, Africa and Latin America is inevitable.

Rusk Warns On Sacking, Burning Library Books

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's become increasingly tempting in certain circles abroad to register a protest by sacking the nearest U.S. Information Agency library and burning its books.

Since 1947 there have been 75 violent incidents involving American libraries. This year there has been a new high — 16 incidents in 10 different countries, according to the agency.

Brazilian students disappointed of an increase in bus fares so they smashed the windows of the USIA library. In Cairo, Egyptian mobs protested the U.S. landing of Belgian paratroopers in the Congo by wrecking the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

Bolivia tops the list with five library - wrecking demonstrations this year. Indonesia is next with three. Other countries include Panama, Cambodia, the Sudan.

The fiery trend has aroused Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who warned Wednesday that "these violent acts cannot but affect relationships between nations."

In a public statement that did not name countries, Rusk said while the United States promptly files protests and asks for apologies and reparations "this is not a satisfactory substitute for prevention."

"The U.S. government has noticed the tendency of these violent assaults to recur in certain countries," Rusk said. "And it is especially concerned about violent acts which appear

Junior Editors Quiz on ANIMALS

QUESTION: What are some of the biggest animal babies?

ANSWER: It is interesting to realize that the largest animal which ever appeared on earth--greater than any of the dinosaurs--is still living today. The blue or sulphur-bottomed whale is the king of all great size, up to 111 feet long with a weight of 150 tons. The great size is possible because the water holds up the whale's body. To give you an idea of the size of such a whale's baby, imagine you could lift one out of the ocean on one side of a huge scale; on the other side, you place two very large elephants. The baby whale would tip the scales on his side. Though small compared with whales, an elephant, on land, is the biggest thing on legs. He can stand 11 1/2 feet at the shoulder and weigh up to 14,000 pounds. Baby elephants are big babies indeed, weighing about 200 pounds when born and standing 3 feet high. When first born, they are quite hairy, but this wears off. Mother elephants must guard the babies from tigers and lions. The babies hide between the mother's legs. She guides them around very carefully when they are too young to fend for themselves, placing her trunk along a baby's back.

FOR YOU TO DO: The hippopotamus baby is another big one, weighing about 40 pounds when born. Ask your parents about how much you weighed when you were born, so you can see how comparatively small human babies are.

Curtis Bynum of Talladega, Ala., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win the weekly prize or the daily prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash.)

Dr. King Accepts Nobel Peace Prize For 1964

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., American Negro civil rights leader, accepted the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize today as "profound recognition that nonviolence is the answer to the crucial political and moral question of our time — the need for man to overcome oppression and violence without resorting to violence and oppression."

In companion ceremonies later in Stockholm, Sweden, Nobel awards in physics, chemistry and medicine were to be presented to two American scientists, an English woman, a German and two Russians.

Gunnar Jahn, chairman of the Norwegian Parliament's Nobel Committee, presented the gold medal and diploma in a ceremony at Oslo University on the 68th anniversary of the death of the donor, Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite.

King got the monetary award of 273,000 Swedish kroner — $53,123 — and announced he had given it to the civil rights cause.

King, 35, is the 12th American and the third Negro to win the peace prize. He was honored for asserting the principle of nonviolence in the civil rights movement.

Before the ceremony, King had a private audience with King Olav V. The monarch, members of the government, and other Norwegian leaders were present at the ceremony. Also there were King's wife, Coretta, his father and mother and brother, and members of the American civil rights movement.

At Stockholm's Concert Hall, Swedish King Gustav VI Adolf was to hand out the other awards.

Among the recipients was Dr. Charles H. Townes, 49, provost of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who shares the physics prize with two Russians, Nikolay Basov, 42, and Alexander Prochorov, 48. Townes received half of the award.

The three were honored for basic research on the powerful light and radio beams called laser and maser, which may open up unlimited horizons in the fields of medicine, industry, space and communications, but could also be used for development of a possible "death ray."

Harvard biochemist Dr. Konrad Bloch, 52, split the prize for physiology and medicine with German Feodor Lynen, 53, of Munich, for their research in the fight against heart disease. The two were credited with important discoveries in the regulation of cholesterol, the fatty acid often blamed as a cause of heart ailments.

Dorothy Crowfoot Hodgkin, a biochemist and professor at Oxford University in England, won the award for chemistry. She was the only woman to win a Nobel Prize in 1964 and the third of her sex so honored in chemistry.

The French author-philosopher, Jean-Paul Sartre, won the prize for literature but rejected it. Sartre said "a writer should be recognized only through his work and unhampered by prizes whether it be a Nobel Prize or a sack of potatoes."

6 Yanks Killed In 2 Days

Viet Cong Spur Efforts To Overrun South Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Six Americans have died during the past two days of hard fighting in South Viet Nam as the Communist Viet Cong intensify their effort to overrun the country. Another American is missing.

South Vietnamese military officials believe the Viet Cong has launched its winter-spring offensive. Beginning last weekend, Communist attacks increased sharply.

Communist raids and ambushes at scattered points in mountainous central Viet Nam aroused belief that the Viet Cong hopes to drive government forces from that area adjacent to Communist North Viet Nam.

A U.S. Army officer killed Wednesday in a battle to retake a hill raised to 232 the number of Americans who have died in combat in South Viet Nam since December 1961.

A U.S. spokesman said an American enlisted man and an Australian officer were wounded in the same battle near the provincial capital of Tam Ky, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Several hundred Viet Cong overrun the fortified hill before government forces fought their way back.

Earlier, the Viet Cong killed a U.S. Army officer in a highway ambush in Phu Yen Province, 230 miles northeast of Saigon along the South China Sea.

A helicopter gunner was killed and a U.S. Army adviser was missing and presumed dead or captured in fighting Tuesday for a fortified hill in the An Lao mountain valley, 300 miles northeast of Saigon. Three American soldiers were killed Tuesday when the Viet Cong overran a small outpost at the southern tip of Viet Nam.

In the Communist-infested Mekong Delta, a powerful Viet Cong force attacked a government battalion early today at Ba Dua, 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Government forces reportedly beat off the attack in a half-hour battle, killing an estimated 50 Viet Cong. Twelve government soldiers were killed and 19 wounded. American advisers took part in the defense but none was reported wounded.
